

Assignment: Samoan

Due Friday, Dec. 3

Data from John Fruean and Kare'i Lokeni. [Researchers who may happen upon this page—please don't cite these data! They are simplified in some crucial ways. E-mail me if interested...]

Directions and notes

- Develop an OT account of Samoan stress.
- There are a lot of loans in here, to get long monomorphemes, but assume that they are just like native words with respect to stress.
- Use feet. It is up to you to decide what is the correct footing of each surface form.
- You'll want constraints MAX-MORA and DEP-MORA.
- Make sure the candidates in your tableaux have enough information shown to evaluate the constraints. For example, if ONSET plays a role in a tableau, be sure to include syllable boundaries in the candidates. Draw in all foot boundaries in all candidates in your tableaux.
- Include as an appendix your footings of all the data. You can just print out the data, draw in the feet, and staple that to your paper.
- You'll probably have to invent one or more constraints for #40-#58.
